

Kitchen & Bath Kitchen Sinks | by Scott Gibson

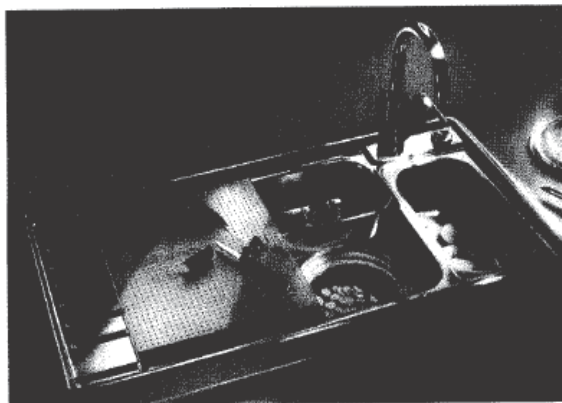

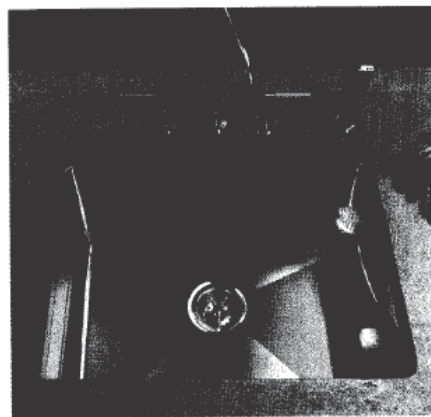

Second Life. Made from 16-gauge recycled copper, Elkay's hammered sinks feature a burnished finish that darkens over time. Warn your clients that copper requires a little extra maintenance: Elkay recommends rinsing and drying the basins after each use. The Antique Copper Hammered line contains 11 styles, including the 33-inch-by-22-inch double-bowl apron-front model shown, which retails for $3,086.

Elkay, 630/572-3192, www.elkayusa.com. Circle #1

Stow It. In a small kitchen without an inch of counter space to spare, where does the homeowner stash pot scrubbers, vegetable brushes, and other clean-up supplies? Julien's Classic Collection undermount sink has two tilt-out drawers, one on each side. At 24 inches wide and 18 inches deep, the 16-gauge stainless steel fixture is smaller than a standard kitchen basin, but it's a good 10 inches deep. It costs $2,480.

Julien, 800/461-3377, www.julien.ca. Circle #2

Work Station. Blanco's two-bowl Platinum Series Blancoaxis maximizes efficiency by incorporating a drain board (on either the right or the left), a colander, and a sliding cutting board made of safety glass. The 18-gauge stainless-steel drop-in fixture measures 39³/₈ inches by 20¹/₁₆ inches; its 7-inch-deep main bowl is 13³/₈ inches by 16¹/₂ inches. It costs $1,098.

Blanco, 800/451-5782, www.blancoamerica.com. Circle #3