

CHAMBERLAIN® PROFESSIONAL PRODUCTS UNVEILS ENTIRE LINE OF LIFTMASTER® WIRELESS ACCESS SYSTEMS AT FENCETECH 2008

Elmhurst, IL – February 2008 – Chamberlain Professional Products, a single source provider for secure, convenient, quality and stylish products for every access point, is proud to introduce a new line of fully integrated LiftMaster wireless access control and communication solutions. Making its debut at Fencetech, February 5 - 7, 2008, in Las Vegas, Nevada, this comprehensive line complements the full line of gate operators and adds depth to the LiftMaster dealer's product offerings, providing an additional opportunity to increase growth and profitability.

Backed by the proven service and support synonymous with the LiftMaster brand, this exceptional line of wireless access and communication control devices work together reliably and with crisp digital clarity. Easy-to-install LiftMaster wireless access systems and accessories also use minimal amounts of power, providing a wealth of exceptional features that both the customer and dealer can appreciate. In addition, as a leader in access solutions, Chamberlain Professional Products closed the loop on overall site control by engineering these products to be fully compatible with all LiftMaster garage door opener products.

A Clean and Hassle-Free Installation

Whether geared toward single family, multi-unit residential or commercial applications, without the physical limitation of wire, these products can be installed just about anywhere, providing unique solutions for each individual customer's needs. Plus, by avoiding considerable labor and material expenses typically associated with hardwired systems, the dealer has new found freedom during the design and installation of the wireless access system. This also provides seamless coordination with the installation team, making it faster and less costly than a wire-based system.

Innovative and Inclusive Wireless Access Control

Chamberlain Professional Products provides a variety of LiftMaster gate and door access control units. Wireless gate access control products range from gate access panels for multiple installations to self-contained keypads for a single gate entry. These products offer the dealer a diverse collection of wireless access solutions which can span from a main entry unit to remote access points, such as card readers, keypads, radio receivers and hand-held transmitters. The wireless access control products and accessories use both 900 MHz and 315 MHz Security+™ frequencies and are compatible with all LiftMaster intercoms and telephone interface units, all with the simple push of a button.

Compatible Communication

Used by customers to screen visitors and facilitate access, the family of compatible access and communication controls features push-to-learn programming and built-in transmitters to open the gate. Available as an indoor flush mount, outdoor weatherproof or portable intercom, this product family allows communication between wireless devices in either the home or commercial setting. The units are also offered with a telephone interface, enabling voice communication and remote operating capabilities controlled via phone.

Out of Sight, Still In Control

Designed to improve signal strength in large or obstructed site applications, LiftMaster's signal management wireless repeaters allow a secure, encrypted signal to permit access when obstacles, challenging environments or line of site issues arise.

Another beneficial add-on to the fully integrated LiftMaster wireless solutions is the UL-rated and micro-powered wireless gate control unit. Ideal for machine actuated gates and doors, as well as mag-lock, electromechanical and strike locking systems, this digitally secure, 900MHz transceiver operates on four AA batteries, or connects to 8-24 VDC.
